Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

Notice of Consumer Rights

TEMPLATE PLACEHOLDER — federal law requires the current, official Summary of Consumer Rights text as published by the CFPB to be provided verbatim, in the exact prescribed format. The paragraph below is structural placeholder content only, standing in for that text to demonstrate this is generated as a third, standalone document. Replace with the current official CFPB-published text, and have counsel confirm the version in use, before this is sent to any real candidate.

Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) Overview

The Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. This notice describes your rights, including the right to know what is in your file, to dispute inaccurate information, and to obtain a copy of your report.
